

Disclosure, Discovery, and Protection of "The Egg"

1. Presence and Affirmation of "The Egg"

We hereby affirm the prior inclusion of an Easter Egg (referred to hereafter as "The Egg") scrambled within prior communications. Be advised that The Egg's coordinates, messaging, and implications are classified under the terms of the International Cryptic Message Protection Act (ICMPA), for which a sanctioned "Egg-Sposure Permit" was recently obtained—fully compliant and above board. While certain individuals, such as Messrs. Snowden and Mitnick, may have attained notoriety through similar pursuits, our actions regarding The Egg remain entirely legitimate and in accordance with applicable regulatory frameworks.

2. Designation of the Certified Egg Finder (CEF)

Among over 400 participants, only one attendee has successfully identified The Egg, hereby granted the honorary title of Certified Egg Finder (CEF). We recognize this individual for their exemplary skills as an "Eggceptional Observer," a designation respected within the niche field of cryptic communication. However, please note that the CEF title does not entail any legal standing, remuneration, VIP or buffet privileges, nor confers any immunity in the case of egg-related incidents. We request that all other participants refrain from soliciting the CEF for any confidential Egg-related information, which remains under strict digital and legal encryption to prevent unauthorized access.

3. Attempts to Uncover "The Egg" Using Software, Encryption Tools, or Rabbit-Approved Programs

Our legal team acknowledges potential interest in attempting to locate The Egg through third-party applications or encryption tools. While we admire your curiosity, please note the following liability disclaimers:

- Download at Your Own Risk: Downloading software with intent to uncover The Egg constitutes an assumption of risk. We disclaim liability for any resulting issues, including viruses, worms, or malware, that may render your device scrambled or inaccessible. (Our records indicate inboxes are best left "over easy.")

- Tech-Wary Bunnies: No unauthorized tools are approved for Egg discovery. Any device malfunctions, scrambled files, or system instability are deemed outside the purview of our legal liability.
- Bunny-Boundary Warnings: Should your efforts to partition files or decrypt The Egg inadvertently result in scrambled drives or compromised data, the responsibility rests with you. We have no egg-spertise in re-shell commands and damaged systems.
- Device Protection Clause: Any hardware or software disruptions resulting from Egg explorations are solely your responsibility. Neither our team nor the digital bunny shall be accountable for any egg-spionage leading to system complications.
- Security Over Easy: Any brute-force or algorithmic methods directed at cracking The Egg will result in a formal warning and possibly a raised eyebrow from both IT parties.

Note: We recommend safe practices, such as utilizing sandboxed or segmented systems, and advise against placing all digital assets "in one basket."

4. Additional Rights Concerning The Egg

We acknowledge that numerous individuals may experience a compelling desire to access the hidden message within The Egg. Regrettably, our official stance—akin to a "sunny side up" approach—remains one of absolute confidentiality, with no current intentions to facilitate public disclosure. While certain secrets may indeed merit "cracking open," the specific contents of this Egg shall remain undisclosed and securely partitioned until such time as the International Egg Registry (IER) authorizes a safe reveal.

Until that moment, be assured that The Egg's message will remain secure, intact, and eggs-actly where intended—within our sent mail and your inbox. We hereby notify all parties that any further investigative efforts regarding The Egg will encounter a strict policy of non-cooperation from both our legal team and the digital bunny.

Disclosure, Discovery, and Protection of "The Egg"

5. Rights Concerning The Egg's Secrets

We acknowledge the prevailing interest in The Egg's concealed message. However, current policy mandates The Egg remain unrevealed, adhering to the confidentiality terms of the International Egg Registry (IER). At this time, The Egg remains secure, encrypted, and "partitioned" in designated email archives, with no anticipated change until further guidance is issued by the IER.

6. Assertion of Rights to The Egg's Secrets

We recognize some may feel compelled to demand access or request disclosure of The Egg's contents. Regrettably, The Egg is bound under comprehensive nondisclosure agreements. Any expansion of the Egg's accessibility is subject to projected timelines, presently indicating a potential reveal in Spring 2026.

For those experiencing a strong sense of curiosity or "Fear of Missing Out" regarding The Egg's location, meaning, or existential purpose, we recommend continued engagement with our communications to remain informed.

7. Future Easter Eggs & Notices

As your non-legal advisors, we hereby issue an Easter Egg Preemption Notice. By continuing to read our correspondence, you agree to the possibility of encountering additional surprises, hidden messages, or cryptic content. Each prospective Egg may vary in difficulty, with possibly diminished clues akin to a traditional egg hunt.

Note: We disclaim all liability for time potentially lost in pursuit of nonexistent clues, ambitions to engage in unauthorized social engineering, or any inclination to stage high-profile hunts

9. No Unauthorized Egg-Straction

Any attempts to extract, locate, or otherwise "poach" The Egg from its encrypted state, without express authorization from our legal counsel or the Digital Bunny, will be deemed a breach of contract. We also advise against any "shell company" setups to pursue additional discoveries.

10. "Yolks" Clause

Any puns, wordplay, or yolk-related humor arising from The Egg's discovery shall be made at the reader's own risk. By engaging in such humor, you agree to hold harmless the digital bunny and its affiliates from all claims of comedic misinterpretation or misunderstandings.

11. Anti-Egg-Sploitation Clause

Participants agree not to exploit The Egg for financial, political, or social gain. Unauthorized uses of The Egg's contents to advance personal interests are strictly prohibited. Additionally, The Egg shall not be leveraged for status enhancement or "clout chasing" on social media platforms.

12. No "Bunny Entitlement"

All participants acknowledge that The Egg remains the sole property of the Easter Bunny, who maintains full discretion over its fate. No participant may claim "Bunny Entitlement" to The Egg or demand ownership of any egg-related intellectual property.

13. Egg Search & Rescue Liability

Should any participant's device, files, or data become "scrambled" in their pursuit of The Egg, they forfeit any claims to "search and rescue" services from our technical team. Moreover, all recovery efforts made in relation to any "hard-boiled" tech issues are the sole responsibility of the participant.

14. "Hare-Loss" Limitation

Any emotional distress related to The Egg's discovery (or lack thereof) is considered beyond the scope of this agreement. We shall not be liable for any stress, hair loss ("hare-loss"), or bunny-induced anxiety that may arise from the perceived challenge, complexity, or elusiveness of The Egg.

15. Certificate of Egg-citement

We retain the right to issue (or revoke) a Certificate of Egg-citement to individuals showing extraordinary enthusiasm or effort in locating The Egg. However, this certificate is not redeemable for prizes, fame, or lunch line privileges, and has no cash value.